

MULTNOMAH FALLS, OREGON

Multnomah Creek flows over cliffs, creating falls that drop 620 feet in a series of basins carved by the water. Multnomah Falls is the fifth highest waterfall in the United States, and the second highest year-round waterfall in the U.S. Just 30 miles east of Portland, Multnomah Falls is the most popular of the many waterfalls in the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area.

Hey Charles!

The ride through the fish ladder was a bit hairy. Surfing the Gnar! Having a great time at the falls. See you soon!
